Dear Mr. Brown,

I am writing to express my satisfaction with The Wand units I have purchased for my four operatories. As a periodontist who performs many cleanings with the use of local anesthesia, I find The Wand not only increases my work efficiency as it is always "loaded" and ready to go, but also it permits decreased pain levels on all injections, particularly on the palatal.

I have received countless comments from patients attesting to the fact that the comfort level of my injections has diminished to almost an imperceptible level. Additionally, due to the slow administration of the anesthetic, the postoperative discomfort is generally less, and with the aspiration mechanism, risk of intravenous introduction of anesthetic and chance of hematoma are decreased.

I plan to never revert to syringe use again, as long as The Wand is available for purchase.

Sincerely,

Kristi M. Soileau, D.D.S., M.ED.
