Dear Brian,

Re: ENDOX

I have been using my Endox now for approximately one year and can now report on its use in about 60 cases. There are several important factors for performing a successful and biocompatible root canal treatment; one such factor is the complete elimination of all bacteria and bacterial proteins, for which I routinely test prior to filling the root canals. My Endox has now imposed itself as an essential tool in my Endodontic armamentarium, as it makes my task much simpler and more sure. I believe that one day every dentist and Endodontist will have one.

Kindest regards.

Dr. Hesham El-Essawy
